HOAG, AND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without Bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

An Odious Monopoly.

From the New York Journal of Commerce, Democratic

In various ways a set of men who are eternally whining about the grasping nature of capital, the selfishness of the rich, the grinding power of monopolies, and other similar grievances, real or imaginary, permit it to appear that they are themselves bent on establishing a monopoly of the most oppressive character in one of the commonest articles of supply and demand. The opposition to Chinese immigration, where it is not speculative or altogether political, springs from the fear that it may operate adversely to the formation of the intended grand "corner" in the labor market. The telegraph is considerably burdened, and the local columns of our exchanges constantly replete, with the movements of men who, it is doubtless true, have some legitimate and worthy objects to advance, but whose main purpose is to create and maintain an artificial scarcity of labor, especially of skilled labor; to preserve for themselves a monopoly of it, and consequently to extort from employers a higher price than it is worth, or would be worth if left to seek its own level. It is a remarkable feature of this conspiracy—for it deserves no softer name—that it is not merely the common feud of the poor against the rich, or the employe against the employer, but it is likewise the man who is compelled to labor for a living against the man who also must labor, steal or starve. One of these, having got a round further up the ladder than the other, by acquiring a trade or occupation, straightway sets his wits to work to pull the ladder up after him, so that nobody can follow unless there is more to do than he chooses to monopolize for himself. This is what the trades unions are everywhere doing. They dictate to employers how many apprentices they may take to learn their respective trades; and of course the number is determined not by the number of youths willing and competent to learn, but by the resolution of conspirators to maintain an artificial scarcity in the branches of labor they control. The unions may plead that they thus monopolize such branches only, and that persons excluded therefrom may seek other employment, but the apology does not alter the character of their proceeding, and besides, if the principle is an honest one, its application is universal, in which case it amounts to a declaration that only a certain limited portion of mankind shall have the right to earn its own living at all. If the other portion happen to be born rich, very well; if poor, we see no alternative for the unlucky ones but to beg, steal, or as soon as possible to get altogether out of the world where they are not wanted, and where they are forbidden even the opportunity to fulfill the divine command to eat their bread in the sweat of their brows. It is perhaps not generally known that the monopoly of labor of some kinds is so strict, and the tyranny of the unions so rigid, that an employer is forbidden to do any part of his own work with his own hands under penalty of a "strike."

The means employed by these labor monopolists correspond in character with the object they seek to attain. Not merely verbal abuse, proscription and threats, but personal violence, awaits the poor man who, wanting bread, is willing to get it by working for whatever his labor will fetch in the market, if that amount happens to be less than the "union" insists upon. The laboring man is no longer his own master; he is a serf of the "union." A few days ago a poor man went to work as a stevedore in this city, below "union" rates. He was set upon, beaten, and considerably injured, by men who call themselves champions of the "rights of labor." The same sort of men put up threatening notices, adorned with coffins and deaths' head, at the entrance of the Pennsylvania coal mines, during the recent troubles, warning all who might be disposed to sell their own labor at their own prices, that they were not at liberty to do so, except under pain of assassination. Instances of such ruffianism in support of the conspiracy to establish a labor monopoly are too familiar, however, to need multiplication here.

The so-called laboring class has every claim to sympathy and respect when it employs itself in legitimate efforts to better its condition by increasing its rewards and lightening its burdens. Neither is it destitute of this sympathy. But when domestic servants undertake to alter their relations to their employers by making themselves as unserviceable and unbearable as possible, when mechanics employed on a job seem to make it their chief study to do as little as they can, and when they combine and conspire, not merely to extort greater pay than their services are worth, but to prevent willing hands from doing what they refuse to do, then these persons assume an attitude which is hostile alike to the rest of society and to the principles of common right. In such a struggle they can have no moral strength, and must inevitably fail at last, even if for a time they are apparently successful. Nothing is more futile than the attempt to give the base metals the value of gold by merely stamping the denomination upon them. An approximation to it may be made by increasing their usefulness, and in the same manner only can the product of the laborers' muscles be made to approximate more nearly to the valuation which the world places upon the higher forms of effort. Neither conspiracy to bring about an artificial scarcity, short measure rendered employers nor endless talk about the "dignity of labor," will accomplish the object sought for. None but honest labor has any dignity whatever, and that dignity increases only as it rises above and becomes more intelligent than that of the horse and ox.

The Colorado of the West is now being explored by two expeditions, one under charge of Professor Powell, sent out by merchants of Chicago, and the other under Colonel Samuel Adams, a resident of the Territory. The last direct account from Col. Adams is furnished in a letter from him, dated July 19, on the Blue River, forty miles below Breckinridge, in which he says: "My party of ten men, beside myself, with their four boats, have justs passed safely through the Rocky Canyon of the Blue River. The fall of water in this canyon was over 230 feet in one and a half miles. My boats sustained slight injuries, but are now repaired, and in the morning we start again for our destination. The fall of water since leaving Breckinridge has been about 2,000 feet. This is as expected. In proportion as the fall is great above it must be less below. My men and boats are all that could be expected. The prospect for a smooth river ahead is very flattering. I write from one of the most magnificent parks I ever beheld; we call this Pacific Park, as it suddenly burst upon our view after emerging from the rapid canyon above." Since this account we learn that on July 24 two men of Adams' party were met in "Middle Park," who reported that all the boats had been broken topieces by the rapids, and the cargoes were lost. Col Adams had started back for Breckinridge, with the intention of building new boats, but the rest of the party had become disheartened. The general opinion in Colorado Territory is that the undertaking to explore the Colorado River is impracticable and highly dangerous.

THOUGHTS ON SATURDAY NIGHT. Some body gets off the following beautiful thoughts on the closing night of the week. There is a volume of truth and sense in them:

"Saturday night makes people human, sets their hearts to beating softly, as they used to do before the world turned them into war drums and jarred them to pieces with tattoos. The ledger closes with a clash, the iron-doored vaults come to with a bang, up go the shutters with a will, click goes the key in the lock. It is Saturday night, and business breathes free again. Homeward, ho! The door that has been ajar all week gently closes behind him, the world is all shut out. Shut out? Shut in rather. Here are his treasures after all, and not in the vault, and not in the book—save the record of the old family Bible—and not in the bank. Maybe you are a bachelor, frosty and forty. Then, poor fellow, Saturday night is nothing to you, just as you are nothing to anybody. Get a wife, blue-eyed or black-eyed; but, above all true-eyed. Get a little home—no matter how little—a sofa, just to hold two or two and a half, and then get the two, or two and a half in it, of a Saturday night, and then read this paragraph by the light of your wife's eyes, and thank God and take courage."

What Makes Coal so Dear.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer

The vast coal fields of Pennsylvania are, to all practical intents and purposes, inexhaustible. They are supplied with all the needed apparatus for bringing their buried stores to the light of day. There is no lack of labor to work the mines, and yet coal is scarce, and the dearth of the article in the markets, of course, runs up the price. This scarcity, it is alleged, and very justly, has been produced by artificial means. But the responsibility has in most instances, been charged to the owners of the mines.

This conclusion, however natural, is neither correct nor just. It is the laborers in the coal regions who are directly responsible for the present unreasonably high prices. The miners and their assistants have from time to time insisted on higher rates of compensation. While all other laborers were receiving less pay, they demanded more, and were and are in a position to enforce their advances, however unreasonable they may be. To give an accurate idea of why coal is higher now than it was last spring, we make the following comparative extracts from the pay rolls of the largest mining company in the middle coal field. The months selected are April and July of the current year:

|---|---|
| Outside labor in April | $10 00 |
| Outside labor in July | 16 50 |
| Advance per week | 6 50 |
| Inside labor in April | 11 50 |
| Inside labor in July | 17 75 |
| Advance per week | 6 25 |
| Miners' wages, when working by the day in April (per week) | 14 00 |
| Miners' wages, when working by the day in July (per week) | 23 00 |
| Advance per week | 9 00 |
| Platform men, wages in April (per week) | 10 50 |
| Platform men, wages in July (per week) | 16 50 |
| Advance per week | 6 00 |
| Slate-pickers (boys) in April (per week) | 9 00 |
| Slate-pickers (boys) in July (per week) | 15 00 |
| Advance per week | 5 50 |
| Engineers' wages in April (per month) | 65 00 |
| Engineers' wages in July (per month) | 102 50 |
| Advance per month | 37 00 |
| Firemen's wages in April (per month) | 55 00 |
| Firemen's wages in July (per month) | 85 00 |
| Advance per month | 30 00 |

Miners, when cutting or mining coal, received in April ninety cents per car, making from $80 to $120 per month; in July they received for the same sized car $1 50, making from $130 to $200 per month.

Not content with receiving the above advances, the miners throughout our coal regions have formed a powerful and lawless organization under the title of the "Workingmen's Beneficial Association." This body, through stalwart and reckless committees, regulate the production of coal by restricting the owners and operators of the mines from getting out more than a certain number of cubic feet per day to a man, thus keeping down the supply in all the markets, and bringing about the scarcity, of which there is so much well-founded complaint.

This association has determined to advance the rates of compensation to miners and laborers in proportion to the rise in coal in this and other large cities. The operators in the Lehigh district have been notified that on every advance in price to the consumers, the miners' compensation must be raised at the rate of fifteen per cent. on the advance, and that of the laborers or helpers, twelve and a half per cent. As the miners have it in their power to regulate the amount of coal sent to market, and the less they permit to be sent the higher their pay—there is no prospect of our having a well supplied market for a long time to come.

The question will be asked: Can the owners and operators of the mines do nothing to overcome the absolute power wielded by their employees? And we answer, they cannot. The miners are in the majority. They are bold and reckless men, and if their requests are not complied with, will not only prevent by force others from working in their places at cheaper rates, but will, without hesitation, murder the superintendents or proprietors of collieries that have the temerity to conduct their business contrary to the expressed wishes of the miners and their assistants. Justice is easily set at defiance in the coal regions; the miners will not inform one against the other, even in cases of murder, much less minor acts of violence, and woe to an outsider who would attempt even to be their prosecutor in a court of law or a witness against them, his life would not be worth a day's purchase.

These desperadoes control the mighty coal interests of our great State. And not until their present brutal power is wrested from them, and their employers placed at least on an equality with them, will there be a change in the condition of the coal market. Under the present system coal will become just as dear as it pleases the miners to make it. They not only fix their rates of compensation at exorbitant figures, but taxe out the exact amount of coal that shall be sent to this and other consuming centres. With a knowledge of these facts the question of "What makes coal so dear?" is readily answered.

How Rosecrans Came to be Nominated.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, Aug 10]

The mystery of Rosecrans' nomination has never been satisfactorily solved. The ostensible were not the real reasons. The party was not so anxious for a new departure as was pretended, or at all concerned about the availability of any member in good and regular standing who might be brought forward and put at the head of the ticket.

There was a deeper motive. Some months ago, leading Democrats in Northern Ohio and New York City put their heads together to fix up things for the Presidency in 1872. The New Yorkers are anxious to make Hoffman the candidate at this time, and agreed with their Ohio brethren that the second place on the Presidential ticket should be given to Judge Ranney, and in order to give the latter the necessary prestige it was thought advisable to press his claims at Columbus for the nomination for Governor. If elected it would put him in the proper position to go before the National Convention in 1872.

These negotiations were very secretly and quietly conducted, but not so covertly that the friends of Mr. Pendleton did not get hold of it. They were in a quandary. He had only to say the word and he could have been nominated at Columbus, without a doubt. But that was not the rub. Could he be elected? The risks were considered too great to be taken. A defeat now would inevitably put an extinguisher on his chances for the great national prize. But it was necessary to show his strength and head off the Hoffman-Ranney movement. So his friends cast about for a man who could carry the Convention against Ranney. The availability of Cary, Sayler and others was closely canvassed, and it was finally decided that none of them had the strength to beat the most popular Democrat in the northern part of the State. The name of General Rosecrans was mentioned and ultimately agreed upon as the one which the friends of Gentleman George should rally to.

Through the diplomatic agency of a well-known Cincinnatian, the Butler County Democracy were persuaded to accept the arrangement, and it will be remembered that they led off the Rosecrans movement in the Convention in fine style, and very much to the surprise of the uninitiated, who presumed on the stubbornness of the delegation from that county should any attempt be be made to take a new departure, and put any but an orthodox Democrat at the head of the ticket.

The contest in the Convention was really a test of strength between the Pendletonians and Hoffmanite Democrats, and as the result showed, the latter were the weaker party.

A New York journal claims that the counterfeiter of the tendollar greenback note has conferred a blessing on the country. By reason of his crime, a new issue of all denominations is to be made, with entirely new designs. "No likeness of any living man will be placed on the note," the dispatch says. Every good citizen will say amen.

Spirit of the German Press.

PENDLETON DISAVOWED BY DEMOCRATS.

While highly commending the personal qualities of Mr. Pendleton, the New York Staats Zeitung, a strong German Democratic organ, remarks that inasmuch as, notwithstanding his high personal qualities, the National Convention found him an impracticable candidate for the Presidency it is a fair subject for inquiry whether the State Central Committee of Ohio ought not to have come to a similar conclusion in regard to his nomination for Governor. The Staats Zeitung is unable to see that any very important political changes have occurred in the country since the election of last fall, or why a policy which at that time, as the result determined, is impracticable and untenable, should be any less to-day; and while acknowledging that popular opinion in Ohio may be quite different from the political sentiments of New York, the Zeitung believes it no less its duty to express its astonishment at the nomination. However capable a Governor of Ohio Mr. Pendleton might make if elected, he possesses neither the means nor the strength by which the Democrats may hope to regain power.

The Illinois Staats Zeitung states that the evil results of the late elections in Virginia and Tennessee have taught the Republican press of this city to no longer pursue the suicidal "magnanimous" policy at least as regards the elections to the State Constitutional Convention. The men appointed to frame the new Constitution must be selected from the best men in the party throughout the State. There must be no compromise with Democrats, nor any encouragement given to "no-party" tickets. The "good Democrats" must not be allowed to play their knavish trick of 1862 over again. A Democrat can no more change his politics than a leopard his skin. In framing a new Constitution, he would have no other right than to artificially redistrict the State, so as to secure to his party the control, notwithstanding the majority of the people of Illinois are Republican. The Republican party has, and will maintain the confidence of the people of this State. Men will be elected whose long experience has made them acquainted with the needs of the State, and who will not use their seats in the Convention to personal ends, nor as a means of political preferment, but as an opportunity by which to render to their country a valuable and lasting service. The Republican party has such men—men who do not blindly follow the dictates of party leadership, but are earnest and determined enemies of corruption in their own midst, as well as in that of their enemies. It has always been the glory of the party not to be blind to its own fault, and to work resolutely to correct abuses. Republican societies in Philadelphia undertook to remedy the imperfections of primary elections; Republicans chiefly established the Citizens' Association of New York city, and it is to-day the Republican journals of New York which expose the corruption in the Legislature of that State.

The Democratic party has never undertaken beneficial reforms. The Democratic party boasts of a better discipline. The masses follow blindly, no matter whether lead to-day by a Union Gen. Rosecrans, or to-morrow by a friend of rebels, Pendleton. But the independent judgment of every Republican, which, according to the Democrats, is weakness, is the glory and strength of the Republican party. The history of the Republican party is a history of constant political progress. After having saved the nation, and having accomplished the glorious results of the last few years, it turns now to the correction of the abuses that have crept into the organization. And the Republican party of Illinois, in framing a new Constitution, will well know how to care for the best interests of all.

WHAT GRANT HAS DONE.

The Democratic Journals, remarks the Baltimore Wecker, would make the people believe that Grant is the most negligent and incompetent of Presidents. According to their descriptions, he occupies himself with nothing but wasting places, horse trading and skinnanans of all sorts, entirely neglecting public affairs, and as a consequence, they predict the utter ruin of the country before the close of the present administration. In refutation of the statement of these false prophets, the Wecker finds the facts to be that within five months Grant has reduced the debt $44,000,000; that the revenues

A Mystery Cleared Up.

ARK TWAIN" EXPLAINS A SENSATION PRESS TELEGRAM.

In a recent number of the Cleveland Herald, ark Twain says:

Ex-Secretary Stanton had an interview with cretary Fish yesterday.—Sensation Telegram the Associated Press.

I was present at that interview. The subject it was warts.

Ex-Secretary Stanton said that when he was oy he had sixteen on his left hand, one pr o on his right thumb, and one on his elbow. e said he used to hunt for old hollow stumps th rain water standing in them to soak his rts in.

Secretary Fish said he had a million of warts nen he was a boy, and sometimes he lit a bean and tied it over a wart, and en took the bean and buried it at midght in the crossroads in the dark of the oon.

Ex-Secretary Stanton said he tried that, but never worked.

Secretary Fish said he could not remember at it worked; he remembered trying it a good any times and in the most unquestioning od faith.

Ex-Secretary Stanton said his usual plan as to run a needle through the wart and en hold the end of the needle in the ndle till it warmed that wart to that deee that it would never take an interest in e world's follies and vanities any more fordr.

Secretary Fish said he thought he was the artiest boy that ever——

At this inopportune moment ex-Secretary anton's carriage was announced and he arose id took his leave. The next Associated ress dispatch that distressed the people rough the columns of every newspaper in merica read as follows:

The subject of the interview between exSecretary Stanton and Secretary Fish has ot transpired. There are various rumors rying. It is generally believed that it refer d to the Alabama question, and was very imortant.

And yet they were only talking about warts. when I see [illegible] Associated ss dispatches, stating that Jones called on e Secretary of the Interior last night, or mith had an interview with the Attorney n., al, or Brown was closeted with the Presdent until a late hour yesterday evening, shall not be so terrified as I used to be. shall feel certain that they are only talkg about warts, or something like that. hey can never fire my interest again with ne of those dispatches, unless they state hat the interview was about.

Dr. [illegible] has prepared an ar[illegible] which are now [illegible] Ol[illegible] fifteen three [illegible] and seven [illegible]

The [illegible] Bremerhaven, of four hundred [illegible] horse [illegible] and a crew [illegible] to twelve [illegible] from [illegible] to the North Polar Basin. Dr. E. [illegible], of Julius, is the geographer and [illegible] of the expedition, and the object of the research is the sea between Greenland and Spitsbergen, as far as Gillis Land. The [illegible] sailed from Bremerhaven on the 21st of [illegible] last.

The second expedition is [illegible], with a perfectly new screw steamer, the Diana, built purposely for the voyage. She is two hundred and fifty tons burden, and is provisioned for two years. Mr. Lamont is a member of the British Parliament, and is well known as a thorough seaman and good geologist. Dr. Smith accompanies [illegible] Captain [illegible] Norman Lockyer as meteorologist. His goal is the sea between Spitsbergen and North Greenland, and he will also explore Gillis Land. He sailed from England on the 29th of April.

The third expedition is Captain Pallisser's. He owns a sailing schooner, with a steam yawl on board. In 1868 Captain Pallisser spent three months on Spitsbergen, engaged in hunting; but as that [illegible] did not satisfy him, he now goes to Nova Zembla, and will explore the still almost unknown sea between Spitsbergen and that island. He will sail from England in April.

The fourth expedition is A. Rosenthal's screw [illegible] Alfred, of seven hundred tons and ninety horse power, with a crew of seventy persons under Captain Hashagen. This vessel is provisioned for fifteen months, and has nearly five hundred tons of coal on board. Dr. Emil Bessels of [illegible] zoologist and sketcher. The object of this expedition is to sail around Spitsbergen, to explore Gillis Land, and the sea between Spitsbergen and Nova Zembla, and then penetrate to the most northern latitude possible, following along the Siberian coast in search of deposits of mammoth remains, etc. This expedition sailed from Bremerhaven on the 23d of May.

The fifth is the second German North Polar Expedition. It consists of the screw steamer Germania, and the sailing vessel Hansa. The scientific force of this expedition includes Drs. Borgen, Buchholz, Copeland, Laube, Pausch and Prayer. The chief vessel is under the command of Captain Koldewey. The object is the exploration of the Arctic central region, on both sides of East Greenland; the solving of the polar question; the measurement of latitudes, etc. The vessels left Bremerhaven on the 15th of June.

The Banks and the Money Market.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

The almost unanimous judgment of men versed in finance seems to be that the present stringency in the money market is likely to last for several months to come. Last evening's Bulletin, in treating of this subject, says:

"Can we wonder that times are hard and money difficult to borrow, when in the United States Sub-Treasury, on Montgomery street, some twelve millions in hard coin are boxed up; when the County Treasurer at the City Hall holds half a million; [illegible] clock and key, and in the State vaults at Sacramento over a million more is lying idle? Allowing for the sums held in the various local treasuries, there [illegible] some fourteen millions now locked up on this coast—the whole of this vast amount withdrawn from the business operations of some six hundred thousand people!"

There can be little doubt that the present stringency in the money market is in part due to the locking up of large amounts of coin, as indicated by our contemporary. But this disposition to withdraw money from circulation is itself an effect quite as much as a cause. Capital is extremely sensitive, and as a general thing it is also sagacious. It unlocks its accumulated hoards whenever it discovers promising and tolerably safe methods of investment. The individual capitalist is controlled in the use of his means by the opportunities for the profitable use of them. But the Government ought to be influenced by a different policy, and there seems to us no good reason why, so long as it has any indebtedness to discharge, it should retain large sums of gold in the treasury, which ought to be placed in general circulation for the facilitation of business transactions. There are some who are disposed to attribute the existing stringency to the policy adopted by the banks in refusing that kind of accommodation, the granting of which, under proper restrictions, is a part of the legitimate business of such moneyed institutions. It is certainly a suspicious circumstance when we find a bank declining the usual accommodation to its customers upon the first symptoms of financial stringency. It is a circumstance which would seem to imply either that the bank is doing business upon fictitious capital consisting of the estimated surplus of deposits not liable to be immediately withdrawn, or else that it is managed by timid and narrow-minded men, destitute of the sagacity and financial genius which ought to characterize persons occupying such positions.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made

COMMON COUNCIL.—Wednesday evening, Aug. 26, 1869, the Common Council of the city of Portland met at the usual hour, his Honor, Mayor Goldsmith presiding.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the fund for the payment of the expenses of the Recorder's Court, read a third time and passed.

An Ordinance to impose and regulate licenses in the city of Portland, was amended and laid over.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The following resolution was adopted:

That the City Surveyor be instructed to make a list of all the property belonging to the city which has been turned over to him by his predecessor in office, and to demand any such property which may yet be in the hands of said predecessor.

On motion, the Council adjourned.

BUILDING ITEMS.—The brick work on the Odd Fellow's Hall and Porter and Wiegand's building on First street, is now in the third story and in a few days more will be finished.

The work of laying sidewalks on Yamhill street is progressing to Sixth street, making it one of the most passable streets in the city.

The grading on Stark st., west of Park, at some points is cut down eight feet.

A new floor is being laid on Vaughn's wharf. Several other places in the city would be the better for such repairs.

The Methodist Society is having the old Methodist church on Taylor street refitted and repaired, making it look quite neat and comfortable.

The building on the west side of Jefferson street, which has been for some time, is to be started running before long by Messrs. Ladd & Co.

A new block has been started on the levee between Ash and Couch streets, by one of the former proprietors of the West Chester House.

The building on Second, between Yamhill and Alder, by one of the former proprietors of the West Chester House.

The building on Second st., between Yamhill and Alder, by one of the former proprietors of the West Chester House.

Mr. Wm. Ring, is having the house lately purchased by him of Dr. Glisan, refitted in splendid style. He has employed Mr. Paterson to make some very fine cornices and other ornaments in plaster, which will be the first of the kind gotten up in the city.

Mr. Wells, of this city, has invented a gang plow for the use of [illegible] and of draught, heretofore used. Any plow now in use. It can be made for fifty dollars.

A grand circus troupe is now on its way north from San Francisco to Oregon. It is expected to be at Jacksonville next week.

The hotel rates have risen [illegible] the first in Washington [illegible], and, as a consequence, we are having [illegible] generally, in Oregon.

The project is agitating the question of a public market in Portland, with much favor. An institution of this kind in our city, would inure greatly to the benefit of producers and consumers of the products brought to market, by buying directly of the other without the intervention of third parties.

Steamer Wide West (Cal.) From [illegible], we learn that parties are engaged in constructing a tug-boat for the purpose of towing vessels over the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river. The commissioners appointed by the Legislature of this State have advertised for bids for the construction of a boat for the same purpose.

In the police court of this city for sometime past has been remarkably dull. The "roughs" have all left, or our efficient officers.

W. H. Rand was expected to arrive at Victoria from San Francisco yesterday. He will probably be here within a week.

Mr. [illegible], formerly of this place, has opened a school in Eugene City. These machines made at Salem run in Portland.

Many new buildings have been erected in Portland during the past year, as near as can conveniently be ascertained, not counting numerous enlargements, and repairs.

About one mile of plank roadway and near five miles of sidewalk have been laid in this city during the present year.

There is one liquor saloon in Portland to every one hundred and twenty inhabitants. Our people are well provided with facilities for taking their drinks regularly.

The grading of the streets was made more necessary by the late rains, and we are glad to note the fact that the good work has been already commenced.

Some of the trees set out during the last spring on Second street have already perished from the drouth, but the most of them to look green again.

THE FAIRY.—The Anniversary Ball of the Washington Guard took place at their armory last night, and it is but due to say to any one who has attended the parties given by this company heretofore, that the occasion was one in every respect pleasant to all who were present. A more interesting or elegant party has not been given in our city; and we trust the Washington Guard will always meet with that approval which their ball in its entire management deserves. The attendance was very good, just enough to fill their large dancing hall comfortably when engaged in tripping the "light fantastic," which was kept up until a late hour.

ARRIVAL.—This schooner, from the Islands, is now in port, having arrived Tuesday night. She made the trip to Honolulu and back yet made by any vessel from the mouth of the Columbia river, the entire trip occupying but 48 days. Her Manifest is as follows: Merrill & Co., 19 pkgs mdse; Chamberlain 393 bags sugar, Kohala 1,084 bags sugar; Hawaiian 897 bags sugar; Haiku 667 bags sugar, Pioneville 196 bags sugar; H. N. G. 300 bags coffee; N. G. 19 bags coffee; H. B. 44 bags coffee.

OUT OF DATE.—From a gentleman who came up by the Chief on her last trip, we learn that the only persons who have been sick with the small pox at Astoria, were [illegible], and that all fears of the contagion spreading had vanished. So those of our people who wish to "summer" at "Arigonias," or elsewhere in that direction, down by the "sea waves," or as Train would say "by the sounding sea," can do so without fear of the small pox.

U. P. R. R. COMPANY.—The Northern Pacific railroad company, which left this city in July, arrived at Helena, M. T., a few days ago. They were twenty-seven days from Puget Sound. They express themselves as highly pleased with the country, and the entire practicability of it for a railroad. They have examined two passes of the mountains, one, by an easy grade, at an elevation not to exceed 5,000 feet above the sea.

BOXING.—The State Agricultural Society have determined to bore an artesian well on the Fair grounds at Salem. The work commenced on Tuesday. It is not stated who has the contract; but we know of no better apparatus for a work of this kind than the machine with which R. B. turns out those articles on the resolutions of '76 for which he is so justly celebrated.

PRICES OF GRAIN.—A Eugene paper says, merchants at that place are only paying fifty cents a bushel for wheat. The average price on the river below that is 60 cents.

Oats of the new crop are beginning to arrive in this market in limited quantities. They are selling at 45 cts per bushel.

DISCHARGED.—Yesterday a discharged soldier named T. Patterson had a jury trial before Justice Bull, upon the charge of having assaulted and beaten Louisa Hummerson. The jury after giving the subject due consideration, rendered a verdict of not guilty, so the Court taxed the costs to Miss Louisa and discharged Patterson.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Yesterday was occupied by hearing the testimony in the case of United States vs. W. K. Smith. The case will probably last two days yet.

The court stands adjourned until the usual hour to-morrow.

REGATTA TO-DAY.—The Portland Yacht Club will hold their last race of the season this afternoon, at three o'clock. The start will be made from the Commodore's boat, which will be anchored in the middle of the river at the foot of Yamhill street, and the race will be over the same course as the previous races. Several new boats will take part in the race, and it will, without doubt, prove one of the most interesting races of the season. There will be two prizes offered, which will be presented to the first and second best. The first prize will consist of a very fine pair of marine glasses, and the second will be an elegant silver cup, suitably engraved. We should think both very appropriate. The several boats contesting will assemble around that of the Commodore immediately after the race, at which time the presentation of the prizes will take place.

CHINA SHIP.—Or rather, a Dutch ship from China, was towed over the bar by the U. S Grant and landed at Astoria on Monday last. About 180 Chinamen are on board, who will probably "invest" this city sometime in the course of two days.

ARRIVED.—The steamers Telfair and Wright arrived from Victoria last night within a short time of each other. They report the Dutch ship from Hong Kong at Woody Island, on her way up.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Let all lovers of intellectual amusement and good elocution, attend the readings, by Mr. Pierpont Thayer, this evening. There is no better way to spend an hour.

SEWARD DINNER.—We see by late papers that Victorians are preparing to give Mr. Seward a grand reception and dinner. The Lord Chief Justice of Vancouver's Island will preside.

THANKS DUE.—Our thanks are due to the Pursers of the Telfair and Wright for files of the latest Victoria papers.

THE WEST

J. Ross Browne has arrived in San Francisco from China.

Subscriptions have been set on foot in San Francisco to procure the publication of a condensed edition of Cronise's Natural Wealth of California, for gratuitous circulation. The work will make a hand-book of almost 150 pages, putting in the smallest possible compass all the most important facts about the agricultural resources of the State. It is proposed to make Chicago the distributing point, and to circulate at least ten thousand copies.

A dispatch from Helena, Montana, August 11th, says: Intelligence has been received here of an attack on an ox train on Sunday by a large party of Blackfeet Indians on Eagle Creek, twenty miles from Camp Cook. The men rolled out the goods, formed a barricade, and fought the Indians till another train came to their assistance. Two Indians are reported killed and a number wounded. The Indians shot twelve head of cattle and wounded one man, and afterwards killed a man named Sam Paxton.

The Marysville (Cal.) Appeal has the following, which is adapted to our latitude: If the Democratic party is honest opposed to the increase of Chinese labor in our State, Democrats must reform their practice. So long as they give Chinamen work they encourage immigration, and give the lie to their professions. When they cease to feed and clothe them their acts will correspond with their professions. Let the leaders begin their work against Chinese labor within their own party lines. Let them pass resolutions reading out of the party every Democrat who employs Chinamen. Let them do one thing or the other—either quit humbugging the people, or openly declare for Chinese labor.

VARIETIES.

The past and the present—The Woman of Rome—"Here are my jewels." The "Woman of the Period"—"Go to my house and Katie will show you the little brats."

Nothing in the newspapers descriptive of the eclipse can outdo this from a Chicago paper: "Miss Luna, that heavenly 'girl of the period,' will this evening overwhelm and snuff out Mr. Sol, her effulgent old beau, by whose borrowed light she has been shining so long. Coquetry ever terminates thusly."

The idea of electing Andrew Johnson to the Senate from Tennessee is not a pleasant one to the Democrats of other States. In that body he would be more than ever an elephant on their hands. It is perfectly natural, therefore, that they should invade Tennessee with telegrams advising against the folly of biting off one's own nose to spite an enemy. As to the actual composition of the Tennessee Legislature nothing certain is known.

No man has got so high as to be independent of the success of agriculture; no man is so low as not to be affected by its prosperity or decline. The cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Man may be civilized in some degree, without the progress in manufactures, and with little commerce with his distant neighbors; but without cultivation of the earth, he is in all countries a savage. Until he gives up the chase, and seeks a living from the earth, he is a roaming barbarian. When tillage begins other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of human civilization.—Daniel Webster.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR the District of Oregon.—In bankruptcy.—In the matter of Mathias Sw

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 26, 1869.

Self Proclaimed Champions.

The Herald informs us that its party is the fast friend and persistent champion of our laboring classes, and that the Republican party is their malignant enemy. As the Republican party has always had a large majority of the laboring men on its side, this announcement is likely to be received with some incredulity by those to whom it is addressed. As a special revelation, it will be very generally regarded as quite apocryphal; —in fact it will be classed along with another favorite assertion of the Democratic party, viz: that this party has always been an unconditional advocate of the Union and a champion of every measure for its preservation.

On what ground does it claim to be the sole friend of our working classes? Solely on this, that its blatant politicians express a design of repudiating the national debt and thus stopping the pressure of taxation. All their broadsides are levelled at the taxes. It is assumed that the burden is too severe to be borne. The demagogues of the party propose to throw it off and, as they declare, give the people relief; and on this ground the party sets up a claim of being the friend of the masses and the champion of the interests of the laboring poor. And the Republican party, being determined to pay the debt, and maintaining the necessity of continued taxation for that purpose, is denounced as the "oppressor of the masses" and the champion of wealth against the laboring classes of population. This is all there is of it. We have here the basis of every argument which demagogues of the Pendleton school make use of in their endeavor to persuade the workingmen of the country that they are their warmest friends. Happily there is too much intelligence among the masses of workingmen to permit them to be caught with such chaff as this. They understand what their own interests and the interests and honor of the country demand, infinitely better than these shallow politicians do. They know, furthermore, that the Republican party has always been their friend;—not, however, developing its friendship in demagogical flattery for the purpose of obtaining votes, but exhibiting it by acts and measures which stand for themselves and furnish their own proof of the sincerity of Republican regard for the welfare of our laboring and producing classes. Hence these classes do not desert the Republican party at the invitation of hungry place-hunters and demagogues.

How long has it been since the Democracy took the side of the people in what the Herald calls the "conflict between capital and labor?" Is it since the time when the Southern aristocracy who led the party and dictated its policy were accustomed to sneer at the white laborers of the country as "small-fisted farmers" and "greasy mechanics?" Is it since the time when the Democratic party was the zealous champion of slavery and upheld a system which made labor of every description a badge of degradation? Is it since the time when the party refused to give the people homes out of the public lands and diverted for years all the efforts of the Republican party to accomplish that object? If its creed has been changed since then, that fact is due to the refusal to command success; if it has been no change at all, party is not fit to be accepted as a guardian of the rights and interests of the class on whom the prosperity of the country mainly depends.

To bring the question to our own doors, what has the Republican party done in the Pacific States which is antagonistic to the interests of the people? "Brought Chinaman here," responds the Democratic politician Not true; the Democratic, not the Republican, party, opened the way for the Chinese to come; and they were coming for ten years before the Republican party obtained control of the Government, the Democrats never making the slight effort to stop them. We will be obliged to any of our Democratic editors who will state what right the Chinese now have in this country which was not given them by the Democratic party before the Republicans came into power? This objection being answered, what further reason is there why the people of the Pacific States should regard the Republican party as an enemy? Is it because that party has kept us in the Union, built the Pacific Railroad, extended our commerce, established a policy which has built up our manufactures, and started these States on the high road to prosperity and empire? Is Oregon tired of the "burdens" of Republican rule in the National Government, when it is well known that for every dollar which is collected here in the shape of Federal taxes at least three dollas are spent by the Government among us? Is it an argument against Republican rule that these taxes are drawn from the more wealthy class, or at all events from those best able to pay them, while the money which the Government expends here mainly goes into the pockets of our farmers and laboring men?

The Republican party points with pride to its record as the friend of the people and the advocate of a truly national policy which has wonderfully increased the greatness, dignity and prosperity of the country. It relies, as heretofore, confidently upon the discriminating appreciation of an intelligent people who know how to distinguish acts from empty professions, who cannot be flattered by demagogues from the line of patriotic duty who are too self-reliant to look for resources where no resources are to be found, and who expect to succeed and prosper by their individual exertions rather than by the help of political agitators.

The Fifteenth Amendment.

The enumeration of States which have ratified the Fifteenth Amendment, as the same appears in our telegraphic columns to-day, is not complete, since several States have ratified whose certificates to that effect have not yet reached the State Department at Washington. In addition to the list given, it is well known that Alabama, Nevada, Illinois, New Hampshire, Indiana, Nebraska and New York have ratified. This brings the list up to twenty-one,—including Missouri and Kansas whose imperfect action will be corrected this winter when their Legislatures reassemble. Vermont, Iowa and Minnesota, which are certain to ratify it, will make the number twenty-four; Virginia, Mississippi and Texas, which must ratify it before they can be readmitted will increase the number to twenty-seven, and there are still Ohio, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Georgia to furnish the remaining vote necessary to complete the measure. Its success is therefore to be regarded as certain. As it will be settled before our next election in Oregon it can cut no figure in our contest next year.

In General.

A British paper says that England would feel no jealousy at the acquisition of Cuba by the United States, since slavery would thereby be destroyed. This is kind; but it is hardly the principle on which England acted during our late civil war. She encouraged our rebels and wished them success, though she knew they were trying to found an empire on slavery, and though the loyal portion of our country had declared for freedom.

The New York Mail of the 13th August learns that Jay Cooke & Co. have made an offer to "place" the securities of the Northern Pacific Railroad on reasonable terms. The offer was conditional on the favorable report of the exploring party which has just reached Minneapolis, Minnesota, from Portland, Oregon. It is understood that the report is exceedingly favorable, so that Jay Cooke & Co. will stand by their offer. The Mail has little doubt that it will be accepted and its terms carried out. It will be the most immense transaction of the kind ever entered into by a private bankieg house, whose magnificent success in "placing" the national securities in the darkest hours of our struggle made it both a name and a fortune

Mrs. Stowe will publish in the September number of the Atlantic, a paper entitled "The True Story of Lady Byron's Life." She will give, it is said, a full and authentic account of the separation of Lord Byron from his wife, and will paint the poet in very dark colors. It is stated that Lady Byron herself confided to Mrs. Stowe, thirteen years ago, the facts in regard to her brief married life, with discretion to use them if she thought it desirable. Four years later Lady Byron died, her English friends have published no memoir, and Mrs. Stow has waited in silence until now the representations of the Countess Guiccioli's book have led her to disclose the truth. No doubt we shall have plenty of rejoinders and a revival of old controversies.

The kind of political economy with which our minds are now to be enlightened is the assertion that those who spend most and save least of their earnings are the class who contribute most to the thrift and prosperity of the country. This argument is invented for the purpose of crushing Chinese laborers. But of course so wise and so obvious a principle in political economy will apply to white people as well. Therefore the white man who spends for his living every dollar he can earn, and goes in debt besides, does more to build up the country in wealth and prosperity than the man who lives frugally and saves as much as possible out of his earnings. We are indebted to an editor at Oregon City for the discovery of this profound principle in political economy.

The Chicago Tribune, in commenting on the proposed removal of the National Capital, says: "If Chicago really desired to have the National Capital established here, her people would not hesitate to issue forty millions of bonds with which to erect better public buildings than are now in Washington, and donate 500 acres of ground on which to set them. If St. Louis refuses to accept the capital under the apprehension that it would kill her, Chicago may be driven to step forward and assume the danger, as she is of tougher mould and greater endurance. The public good requires that the National Capital should be located in the heart of the great Mississippi Valley; and that it should be removed from the evil, debasing and corrupting influence of the rings and lobbies of the seaboard. Some first-class Western city must make the sacrifice, for the nation, and if St. Louis, which is best located for that purpose, declines the reponsibility, Chicago, which is the next best, will probably be under the painful necessity of receiving it." The meek spirit in which Chicago proposes to submit to this sacrifice will no doubt be everywhere appreciated.

Purchasing Bonds.

The Chicago Republican shows that Secretary Boutwell, in his purchase of bonds for the sinking fund, must soon be met by a difficulty of no little magnitude. The total debt, August 1, 1869, principal and interest, was $2,635,122,738 57, or after deducting the various assets in the national Treasury, $2,-429,002,480 58. Now, Mr. Boutwell is purchasing bonds as fast as circumstances will permit. Nevertheless, he has a very small margin on which to work. For instance, some $425,000,000 of bonds are held by the national banks, some $150,000,000 by the insurance companies, some $225,000,000 by the savings banks, and some $200,000,000 by trust companies, private bankers, public charities, educational institutions, and so on, making a total of $1,000,000,000 with $850,-000,000 held in Europe, leaving only $350,-000,000 or thereabouts, held in the United States, subject to sale. Many of these bonds are held by individuals, firms and corporations, without any intention to part with them. The margin of purchase by the Secretary of the Treasury is, therefore, quite restricted. At present rate of purchases, the market will soon be denuded. Then the only opening for redemption will be the one presented by the law which created the bonds. In that case, Mr. Boutwell would have no resource but to resort to payment. Finding that his power to purchase was at an end, he would be driven to calling in the 5-20s, and paying them off in coin, at their face, as allowed and provided for by the laws which created them. When that time comes, as it must soon, our national bonds will rule even higher than the consols of Great Britain.

Begging for Oblivion.

Gen. Lee does not find the recollections of the late rebellion, in which he bore so conspicuous and traitorous a part, at all agreeable to his mind. He will not go to Gettysburg, but writes a letter to the Memorial Association in which he kindly advises them to set no historical monuments on the field, but to obliterate all the marks of the battle and consign the remembrances of it to oblivion He would prefer to see the battle-fields ploughed up and converted into tobacco plantations, no doubt; a proceeding which would have an eminently healing, healthful and conciliatory influence upon the country,—though unquestionably hemp, if rightly employed, would be a more useful crop. It is evident he supposed that the record of the great conflict can be erased from history, and that it is worth while to try to persuade a loyal people to forget the sacrifices they had to endure and the glories of their triumph. This meeting at Gettysburg, however, is not at all for the purpose of raising monuments to the victory, but solely for the purpose of raising monuments to history. Perhaps it should not be surprising that Lee does not attend. His recollections of the rebellion naturally would not be very pleasant. Considering the circumstances under which he engaged in the revolt and his criminal disregard of his duty to the country which had educated and supported him, it is not so very wonderful that he should be anxious, as he expresses it, to consign the whole thing to oblivion.

NEVADA.

Great Fire in the C. P. R. R. Snow Sheds.

SUMMIT, Aug 25.—The snow sheds on the railroad, five miles west of this station, caught fire last night. There being a stiff breeze blowing at the time, near a mile and a half of the structure was destroyed before the fire could be put out. Some seventy rails are reported burnt, and most of the ties destroyed, also the timbers in the culverts. A very large force is now at work clearing away the rubbish and laying track, but up to this hour it can't be ascertained when the trains will be able to cross the break. The train from the East arrived on time and is now awaiting orders at Truckee It is thought the passengers will be transferred across the break on arrival of the west bound train, at that point at noon to day The fire originated in the timber near the road, thence to the sheds, which got well started before it was discovered, and too late to stop it at once. The passengers from the East rather enjoyed the detention, and say that it could not have occurred on a more agreeable point on the road. Boot, of the N. Y. Sun took advantage of the delay and went to Lake Tahoe with his family.

Judge Sydney Breese, of Wisconsin, and party, arrived at this place via Donner Lake wagon road in private conveyance, and enjoyed the scenery.

Later dispatches just received from an operator at the break, says that two miles of sheds and nearly all the ties for that distance, are destroyed.

THIRD DISPATCH—4 P. M.—The fire burnt as long as there was any shedding to feed it west, until it reached tunnel No 5, and eastward until there was a space without sheds. The road will be repaired by to morrow morning in, time for trains east and west. Passengers, baggage and mails, will be transferred across the break this afternoon and all landed in Sacramento to-night. Passengers and mails will also go east to-night.

VIRGINIA, Aug. 25.—Bullion shipment of August 24th—$17,824 15.

Owing to the fire on the railroad, the express and mails are behind time five hours.

Stages for the west went out at the usual time.

The verdict of the jury in the case of J. L. Roach, was that he came to his death from a gunshot wound in the hands of Frank Rankin.

The weather is very pleasant and the health of the city improved.

Business generally quiet.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

England, France and Spain, are now each undergoing organic changes in their political constitutions. There never has been before so critically interesting an epoch in European history, and we are not likely again in our time see three great kingdoms, each in its own way and independent of the others, altering radically the very structure of their government.

Capitalists abroad appear to have unbounded confidence in ocean cable enterprises. A French company now proposes to lay a new line, starting at Gibraltar via England to America. We had confidently hoped that the next proposition of the kind would come from Americans, but in this respect we cannot boast much of our prowess. Our capitalists do not take kindly to the water.

Andrew Johnson has, in a speech at Blountsville, Tennessee, taken unequivocal ground in favor of national repudiation. Having repudiated every other obligation of national and political faith, it ought to surprise nobody that he has at last leaped into the lowest depths of rascality. The man who betrayed his party, the freed race, and his country by turns, could not be expected to remain true to the integrity of the latter.
